Master of Public Health (MPH)

Have you heard about our successful MPH program?

2-year MPH program
High job placement rates

Apply today!
Deadline: May 16, 2016

Recent Graduate Highlights

Christy Scroggins, MPH: Adjunct faculty at CSUSB.
Jeri Mobley, MPH: Adjunct faculty at CSUSB, Nutrition Educator for the Healthy San Bernardino County School of Superintendents, Nutrition Education and Obesity Prevention Program.
Devin Arias, MPH: Community Engagement Manager at American Lung Association, adjunct faculty at CSUSB.
Evangel Sarwar, MPH: PhD student at Duquesne University, Wellness Coach at Robert Morris University.

And many more…

Quick Facts

• 2-year full time program.
• Courses are at night, face-to-face, hybrid, and some online.
• Internship placement consultations with advisory board members.
• Several MPH students publish research in highly regarded journals.
• Council on Education of Public Health-based coursework design.

For more information contact MPH program coordinator:
Dr. Monideepa Becerra at mbecerra@csusb.edu; (909) 537-5969 (email preferred)
For Fall 2016 admission to the MPH program, applicants must apply to CSU Mentor and then submit the Department of Health Science and Human Ecology Application. The application can be found at: health.csusb.edu. Click on the MPH tab and download the packet.

Items required for Department application:

- Copy of CSU Mentor application
- Signed program agreement form
- Transcripts (unofficial is acceptable)
- Resume or curriculum vitae
- Statement of Purpose and signed form
- Writing Sample and signed form
- At least 3 letters of recommendation along with signed recommendation forms
- GRE scores (unless waiver applied)

Tips on application:

Please make sure to follow the guidelines provided on the application form. When in doubt, do not hesitate to contact the program coordinator.

The Statement of Purpose is not the same as a personal statement. We are interested in understanding your reasons to pursue the MPH program. It is critical to make your long and short term goals clear.

The Writing Sample must be applicant’s original work and demonstrate an understanding of public health, in the broadest term. While some topic suggestions are provided, each applicant may choose a topic that is of interest to them.